The screenshot shows the 'XAUUSD New order' form in the SimpleFX interface. At the top, there are 'SELL' and 'BUY' buttons with prices 3234.6 and 3235.53 respectively, and a '93' indicator. Below these are 'MARKET' and 'PENDING' tabs, with 'PENDING' selected. The main form contains the following fields:

You can optionally set take profit and stop loss here, in points or in price.

LEVERAGE LEVELS EXPLAINED

Leverage Levels depend on USD currency, for account other than USD, account balance is converted live from current USD exchange rate.

If your account is below $5,000, you may set your leverage up to 1:500 but you may set it lower, for example at 1:200, 1:100, 1:50, 1:25 and so on.

Example:

Your account balance is $4,000 and you set your leverage to max. available which is 1:500. You have closed a profitable order and earn $6,500. So now your account balance is $10,500. Your leverage can now be set up to 1:200, therefore Simplefx automatically switches your leverage to 1:200.

Account Balance	Leverage Up To
$100,001 and above	1:100
$100,000 - $50,001	1:125
$50,000 - $30,001	1:150
$30,000 - $20,001	1:175
$20,000 - $10,001	1:200
$10,000 - $7,001	1:300
$7,000 - $5,001	1:400
$5,000 - and below	1:500
